December Holiday Party & Notes

The December Holiday Party at Carol Sullivan's was a blast from the past as we danced, ate fondue and reminisced about the 1960's.

Please send in your 2019 dues of $25 to Sue Pine, 909 Tijeras NW, Apt 121, Albuquerque, 87102

Remember to email Janine Wilson information and images of any shows you have so she can post it on Facebook. If you do not have a page on our website yet, please send her a photo of yourself, an artist's statement and up to 12 images of your art. If you do have a page, you can always update it by sending her current images.

elle avoit vu le loup — it's complicated

(detail from 12x36" image on panel with cold wax)

Wild Hearts Gallery, January 2019

Little Red Riding Hood was originally a story about sexual assault - the French saying elle avoit vu le loup means "she has seen the wolf". In Little Red Riding Hood it is clear who is predator and who is prey. In the image and the dream, not so much. Just who is the shepherdess and where is she taking the sheep?

ARTvictories

Eliza Schmid has several shows during January:

- Rainbow group show at Winning's Cafe (Central at Harvard) until Jan. 31.
- Solo show at the Fonda del Bosque (on the grounds of the Hispanic Cultural Center) continues into February. Lunches there are excellent!
- The Escribiente Artist group show at the Cancer Center (Lang Street) until mid February with five paintings.
- Small solo show at the Buffalo Exchange (3005 Central NE) during February.

Marian Berg has a few paintings in the upcoming Biologique show at the New Mexico Art League. The opening reception is on Jan. 26 from 5 to 7. The show is up from Jan. 15 to Feb. 23, 2019.

Linsay Locke is one of the artists in The Art of Healing at New Mexico Cancer Center: December 7 through February 15. This exhibit, curated by Regina Held, showcases meditative and uplifting works mainly by artists whose lives have been impacted by cancer.

Iona Halderman's collages were juried into Amapola Gallery in Old Town where she will be a guest member for the six months.

Joan Fenicle is featured artist at Wild Hearts Gallery in Placitas January 2-27 with a reception on Saturday, January 19, 1-4 pm. The exhibit is "Lost in a Dream" and features fantasy and abstracted images with a dream book soliciting audience interpretations of the pieces. See detail from one of the images on page 2 and share your own interpretation.
