WOMEN MAKING ART SINCE 1990

January 2022 Newsletter

Rainbow Artists Monthly Meeting
January meeting Tuesday, Jan. 18, 2-4 pm
North Fourth Arts Center
4904 4th Street NW (Just north of Griegos)

Program: Fun and Easy Monotype Prints

Carol Adamec will lead a fun, hands-on demonstration of basic trace monotype techniques that can be done at home with inexpensive and common art materials. These processes have been used by well known artists such as Paul Gauguin, Edgar Degas, Kathe Kallowitz, Henri Matisse, and Jaune Quick-to-See-Smith, among many others. We'll be creating 4"x6" prints, using different approaches with a variety of results.

Please bring the following items:

- writing/marketing instruments, such as ball point pens, pencils, a stylus
- small images or drawings you want to work from
- paint brushes (soft/bristle)

If you have any of these items, bring them too:

- inking brayer, glue stick, scissors, collage scraps

Angela Storch has a solo show at the Peace and Justice Center in ABQ on Harvard Street. The show runs through January 20th. Image at right.

Marian Berg is still showing work at the Ricochet Gallery and also has work in the NM Cancer Center's Anniversary Exhibition in February. She has a couple of big mural jobs lined up, but they are outdoor walls, so she's waiting for warmer weather.

Eliza Schmid continues to show at Ricochet Gallery (Mountain Road at 11th). Image at right.

Joan Fenicle is featured artist at Wild Hearts Gallery in Placitas for the month of January with a reception on Saturday, January 15, 1-4 pm. The multi-media show is titled All About Place with three groups of three images each—oil paintings, photographs and mixed-media. Place is powerful. It has the ability to shape us as much as we have the ability to shape place. You can take a virtual tour of the gallery's January show here.
