Rainbow Artists Monthly Meeting
Sunday, March 15, 2-4 pm
Rainbow Colors Project Worksession
OFFCenter Community Arts
808 Park Ave SE

This is a collaborative project based on the book by Katherine Bold called True Colors. No rules. Each artist selects one color. No boundaries. A color journal will be made with black, white and all the colors in between using our imaginations with just a single color scheme. Each artist contributes a mono-chromatic journal page (12 x 12) to be inserted in a provided pocket protector—in her chosen palette. The finished work can be a page of various techniques and mediums including stamping, painting, sketching, fabric art, metalwork, transfers and layered texturing -- a wide spectrum of artistry and skill.

We are hoping the remarkable artwork of this project can be part of the Rainbow anniversary presentation. The artists are encouraged to share their story about themselves and their contribution and their inspiration behind the colorful page by writing a response and inserting it on the reverse side. Roberta Delgado has a list of the colors members selected at the last meeting. Bring materials to work on your journal page to the March meeting.

*elle avoit vû le loup —
it's complicated*

Little Red Riding Hood was originally a story about sexual assault - the French saying elle avoit vû le loup means "she has seen the wolf". In Little Red Riding Hood it is clear who is predator and who is prey. In this dream, not so much. Just who is this shepherdess and where is she taking the sheep?

February Meeting Notes

Treasurer's Report: Beginning balance $2,704.00 less $30 paid to OFFCenter for January and $33.24 reimbursement for office supplies for an ending balance of $3,165.76. Because we have a healthy bank balance, we have decided not to charge entry fees in 2020, in celebration of our 30th anniversary.

We spent some time discussing the Rainbow 3-fold brochure. Janine Wilson has taken on finishing up the wording for the Gallery panel and Martha Heard the Public Spaces panel. Several images have been received and more are welcome.

Next shows:

Nobel Peace show at Special Collections in June
Gallery St Michael, No theme, July 17

Pick up dates:

3Gs: March 30, 11 am
Organic Books: March 31, 11 am

Welcome to our newest member Kyrie Osborne.

Sue Pine announced that she will be leaving Albuquerque, probably this summer, to be nearer her parents. Sue has stepped up to be a cornerstone of Rainbow and will be missed terribly, but we certainly understand the need to help family when they need you. The most urgent need will be someone to step up as Treasurer.

The EXPO is a great event, whether you are taking a workshop, watching a demo or stocking up on art supplies at discounted prices.

Art Around Town

Tortuga Gallery and the Bluhmtunes

Bonnie Bluhm announced a coffee house at Tortuga Gallery Sunday, March 29. It will be an afternoon occasion from 4pm to 7pm with Adobe Brothers and Bonnie Bluhm playing.

The coffee bar will be open and as usual there will be great art up on the walls. Suggested donation of $5 to $10 or whatever you can afford.
